Washington, D. C., March 1.—The friends of silver in the House, while in their business of which a United State in the power of President-elect Cleveland, under a law, have given to the public, drafted a conference and this evening to carry out the plans which they have upon. They are not sure of the outcome, but do not doubt the correctness of the position they have taken. They propose to commit themselves to the gold side of the question, and the administration to answer to the gold side of the question, and their position is to compel themselves to put the gold in the Treasury, and to compel

Daily and Weekly TRIBUNE.

The Most Popular, Most Widely Circulated, and Most Comprehensive Newspaper in the West Northwest.

It embraces for every issue all parts of the world regardless of expense, and prints it in an acceptable and intelligent manner.

Its Editorial Department has long been noted for their superiority, correctness, independence, and ability in the discussion of the topics of the day.

THE TRIBUNE prints each week in the Saturday and Weekly Editions a price story selected with a large number submitted in competition. A great variety of literary miscellany, sketches, poems, foreign correspondence, and reading for the home and family circle will be found in Saturday's and Sunday's issue, and the best of these are reproduced in THE WEEKLY.

THE TRIBUNE'S Commercial Reports have for years been unrivaled. The course of the markets for breadstuffs, provisions, live stock, and general merchandise is carefully interpreted from day to day in THE TRIBUNE, and the record of the transactions every pointed there to an intelligent and discriminating mind.

THE TRIBUNE employs a corps of correspondents whose sole duty it is to report the Agricultural and Live Stock Departments, in which will be found the latest intelligence concerning farm topics, crops, diseases and the condition of the years, the dairy, the cattle, sheep and harvesting and all kindred matters.

The Crop Reports of THE TRIBUNE having the reputation they have are very full; they are safe to try our own correspondents scattered over a wide area of territory and therefore are free from the suspicion that they are governed by personal interest.

TO SEE CLEVELAND.

A Hungry and Thirsty Mob of Cook County Democrats to Invade Washington.

William A. Gallagher, the Recently-Convicted Exploit of the "Coup" in the Role of Rapidus.

Rooks in Robes and Lace Law—The Inauguration of the Executive.

The Cook County Democratic Club's delegation left for Washington yesterday afternoon at a rate of speed only limited by the capacity of the engine. Having sent forward Washington's inaugural suit, the members of the club followed in person to see the ceremony of the inauguration and to satisfy their curiosity as to the capital city. The train left the Chicago depot at the conclusion of a dinner given to the members at the Grand Pacific Hotel by Mr. Gallagher, and was composed of a sleeper, a dining-car, and a baggage-car. The sleeper was filled with members of the club, and the dining-car was filled with the hungry overflow. The baggage-car contained the provisions for the trip, and was filled with a miscellaneous assortment of eatables, including a large number of bottles of liquid refreshments. The train was in charge of Conductor Hall, of the Chicago & Alton road, and Mr. Hall and his assistants did all in their power to make the trip a pleasant one for the members of the club. Mr. Gallagher, who is the president of the club, was also on board, and he, with the other officers, did all in their power to make the trip a pleasant one for the members of the club. Mr. Gallagher, who is the president of the club, was also on board, and he, with the other officers, did all in their power to make the trip a pleasant one for the members of the club.

The political nature of the excursion was the subject which formed a part of the conversation from the members of the delegation. This excursion was a mere act in the line of the club's existence. It is said to have been considered a bit out for the entertainment of the members, through the aid and consent of the Committee on Clubrooms of the County Board. These excursions were all built on the same plan, that the cost of each excursion was kept down. "You pay your share and you have a good time," they say, and that is the spirit of the club's excursions. The members of the club, and the members of their families, and the members of their friends, and the members of their friends' families, and the members of their friends' friends' families, and the members of their friends' friends' friends' families, and the members of their friends' friends' friends' friends' families, and the members of their friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' families, and the members of their friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' families, and the members of their friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' families, and the members of their friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' families, and the members of their friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' families, and the members of their friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' families, and the members of their friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' families, and the members of their friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' families, and the members of their friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' families, and the members of their friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' families, and the members of their friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' families, and the members of their friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' families, and the members of their friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' families, and the members of their friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' friends' families, and the members of their friends'

IN GENERAL.

The name of Ben Bolling was mentioned in connection among Chairman Hamilton's visitors in connection with the shipment of prisoners counter. Mr. Bolling denies that he has ever had anything to do with any conviction of the character.

George Trotman, member of the famous wine-growing grocery on a search for the whereabouts of widow, broke a window of William Bur-ranger's establishment, Van Buren and South Canal streets, yesterday, and was sought as an insane wanderer, was not a sober person enough to be held. He was lodged in the Desplaines-street station.

Officers were arrived from Decatur yesterday morning to take the place of the Wyatt architect in the Wabash conundrum. A confidence of the architect rested on the efficacy of the cold and assured them that the new men would go quietly to work and that there would be no disturbance. They say that the reports of a riot are unfounded.

The defendants of the Salem Swedish church received yesterday attorneys. The re-quest consisted of the staging of Swedish funeral, clearing and distributing estimates to Rev. O. Olsen and Rev. C. A. Hasselquist. The church has a seating capacity of about 1,200 and 2 additional evangelists. In the case of the prior to the removal prosecution of the conditions.

Assistant Superintendent Timmis of the North Chicago City Railway Company said yesterday that as soon as the track across Lincoln-ave-nue got in order, probably in about a week, the company would put on a new line of cars to run from Lincoln Park to Wellington-ave-nue. The cars are to be marked "Lincoln Park and Wellington-avenue," and will have a new kind of fenders, which are said to be the best yet in use. They are to be run through cars.

A meeting of the Irish-American Club was held yesterday for the purpose of concerting arrangements for the Annual St. Patrick's Day parade. The Union Hotel was selected as the place for holding the banquet and ball, and a committee was selected to do the soliciting and other work. On Friday, the 18th inst., the Irish Literary Society, the Irish Men's Club, the Young Men's Club, the Irish Men's Social Club, the Irish Men's Benevolent Society, and other Irish societies will meet at the Union Hotel and march to the Palmer House, where they will be joined by the Irish Citizens' Club, and the whole body will march to the Grand Pacific Hotel, where the banquet will be held.

The engineers are now engaged.

The fringe of a well-dressed woman struck the city yesterday, adding another to the long list of unfortunate fringes which attack the dress-making people when the weather takes effect. The fringe began to fall early in the morning and continued to come down in gentle showers most of the day. There was not enough to give a white coating to the earth-brown and most of the streets, but just enough to make a muddy compound for the pedestrians to wade through. The fringe disappeared and melted along with the sidewalks in the course of the day, and left the streets in the same condition as before the fringe came. Several persons who had been caught in the fringe without umbrellas and had their clothes spoiled by the fringe, were heard to say that they would like to get hold of the fringe, and that they would make it very interesting for it. The fringe, however, was not to be found, and the only thing left to do was to go home and change clothes.

Officers were arrested yesterday morning by Detectives Hall and Barker, charged with the larceny of a lot of clothing from the residence of Mrs. Ellen Hall, No. 1,000 Wabash-ave-nue. The property was found in the possession of Mrs. Hall, who was arrested on a charge of receiving stolen goods. She was released on bail.

Mrs. Catherine Hall, who was arrested on a charge of receiving stolen goods, was released on bail.

Mrs. Catherine Hall is not the person who is also arrested whose name was given in the dispatches.

Mrs. Hall, the landlady in question, has been arrested on a charge of receiving stolen goods.

Mrs. Hall was first given to a private detective on a private landlady complaint. This was done by a private detective, who was employed by the complainant, Mrs. Hall, who was in charge of the premises. Mrs. Hall, who was in charge of the premises, was arrested on a charge of receiving stolen goods.

[Special Correspondence of The Chicago Tribune.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Special Correspondence.—Even those who have the most active interest in the business question of the day, the advancing face of securities, are not now free to look half passionately into the future. Each one has his own particular problem to solve, and the solution of it is the all-absorbing topic of conversation. Even the speculative element, which is the most sensitive to the influences of the market, is not free from personal considerations. The men who have made fortunes in the stock market are not now engaged in the operations which brought them success. They are either trying to get out of the market with their profits, or they are trying to get back the money they have lost. Many of the men who have been most successful in the past are now the most timid. They are afraid to trust their own judgment, and they are afraid to trust the judgment of others. Many of the men who have been most unsuccessful in the past are now the most confident. They are sure that they have learned wisdom by experience, and they are sure that they will not make the same mistakes again. Between the timid and the confident there is a great number who are waiting for the clouds to roll away, and for the sun to shine out clear and warm. They are not willing to take any risks, and they are not willing to lose any opportunities. They are waiting for the storm to pass over, and they are waiting for the sun to appear. They are not willing to take any risks, and they are not willing to lose any opportunities. They are waiting for the storm to pass over, and they are waiting for the sun to appear.
